

Spacekids new learning website resource

4 October 2009

In order to mark the 2009 World Space Week, Spacekids is excited to announce the launch of an extensively redesigned and enhanced website section, offering learning resources to children and educators.

It is aimed at children of age four and up, and it is hoped that it will help with countless homework projects.

The Learn website section gives access to ten space articles, covering diverse subjects including the history of space exploration; the solar system; exploring Apollo spacecraft and the space shuttle; and what it takes to become an astronaut.

The Learn section is enhanced with sound clips, access to video clips and wallpapers, plus interactive learning features to bring the excitement of space exploration to junior astronauts.

The Learn facility is available from the Spacekids website homepage, at www.spacekids.co.uk.
